

Anthonij Rupert Wines

Anthonij Rupert Wines is gracefully situated in the awe-inspiring embrace of the Groot Drakenstein Mountain within the Franschhoek wine valley, renowned for its exceptional vineyards. Impressively, the estate dedicates over 300 hectares of its land as a pristine nature reserve, providing a sanctuary for red-listed species like the Cape Violet and indigenous mammals such as the Cape leopard and Cape fox. This harmonious coexistence between viticulture and conservation underscores the estate's unwavering commitment to preserving both its natural surroundings and the rich biodiversity of the region.

For more information, click here.