

Grootvadersbosch Nature Reserve

Unwind and re-energise in the indigenous forest, Grootvadersbosch Nature Reserve. For the glampers and those who seek adventure and fun surrounded by greenery, history, and free nature therapy sessions.

Grootvadersbosch Nature Reserve found along the Garden Route has a rich history as a forestry station where early foresters attempted the local cultivation of redwood trees. Now official monuments to the area's precious ecological heritage the reserve also boasts accommodation from basic campsites to glamping units and self-catering cottages. Tourist cabins have been built from recycled and reclaimed materials from old foresters' lodges and exemplify CapeNature's sustainable approach. Along with local water treatment, the reserve is programmed to receive a photovoltaic upgrade as well.
