

Radisson Red Hotel

This modern eco-conscious hotel in Cape Town has earned recognition for its outstanding sustainability initiatives. Notably, at the hotel's OUIBar + KTCHN restaurant, they steer clear of buffets, a practice that has led to a remarkable 30 percent reduction in food waste.

Innovative sustainability measures extend throughout the establishment. The hotel employs an ingenious central cooling system that harnesses seawater for efficient climate control. Additionally, the exterior features a low-maintenance design with concrete and brick, while an abundance of natural lighting and an energy-efficient electrical layout work together to significantly reduce energy waste. These combined efforts underscore the hotel's commitment to a greener and more sustainable future.
