

The Westin

The hotel has been proactively implementing sustainable measures to curtail water consumption and prevent wastage, all while ensuring minimal disruption to guests' experiences. Among these pioneering solutions stands the installation of a desalination plant, a groundbreaking innovation that transforms seawater into purified, potable water. This newfound water source seamlessly supplements the property's water supply, showcasing the hotel's commitment to both environmental responsibility and guest comfort.

For more information, click here.